DEVELOPMENT

Fort Worth's population continues to boom as people flock to the city, drawn by its steady economy, topnotch entertainment and easy going lifestyle. This recent growth has prompted the City of Fort Worth to pursue new approaches in handling major population surges.

Piloted by the Trinity River Vision Authority (TRVA), the Trinity River Vision (TRV) is a master plan for sustainable redevelopment of Fort Worth's downtown core surrounding the Trinity River. Now in progress, the most well-known of the Trinity River Vision projects is that which will transform a once-neglected and under-used section of the Trinity River into an urban riverfront community: The Panther Island Plan. In creating a waterfront neighborhood just north of downtown Fort Worth, the Panther Island Plan will effectively be doubling the size of the downtown area, consequently generating more than $600 million in economic development activity solely in the first decade alone.

Panther Island is the largest mixed-use development in Fort Worth, opening up for the development of 800 acres connecting downtown, the cultural district and the stockyards as well as creating twelve miles of urban waterfront development potential. An inspired collection of area requirements, such as smarter zoning, will encourage sustainable central city development of over three million square feet of commercial space and 10,000 mixed-income households.

MAGNOLIA AVENUE

On the southside of Fort Worth is a hipster enclave called Magnolia that's become one of the busiest pockets of the city. The streets here are lined with eccentric bars, coffee shops, vegan diners and B-Cycle stations — a citywide bike-share program. It's a newer neighborhood — still gentrifying, still up-and-coming, with chic hot spots thriving inside decades old buildings. The result: a funky-chic neighborhood where the antique meets the modern.
